Disclosure Statement:

Customers choosing a non-utility gas supplier must evaluate the benefits and risks of a Commodity Sale Arrangement. You, the Customer, understand that:

1. Your Agent contracts with SaskEnergy to supply billing, delivery and other services. Your Agent is not affiliated with or endorsed by SaskEnergy in any way. SaskEnergy is not responsible and shall not be held liable or in any way accountable to the Customer or Agent with respect to:
 - a. The manner by which an offer to supply natural gas by your Agent is presented to you;
 - b. The terms of the Commodity Sales Agreement between you and your Agent;
 - c. The provision of any after sale services offered to you by your Agent; or,
 - d. The observance of, or failure of your Agent to observe, the terms of any offer to supply natural gas, the terms of the Commodity Sales Arrangement, the terms of the Code of Conduct or the terms of any applicable legislation.
2. Any cost savings will be on the gas supply portion of the bill. Your Agent may not be able to buy gas cheaper than SaskEnergy. You are responsible for all gas supply arrangements made by the Agent on your behalf. It is your responsibility to ensure that you are dealing with a knowledgeable and reputable firm.
3. It is your responsibility to check with your Agent as to what would happen if you change your address and what notice the Agent would require to terminate the contract.
4. In the event of a supply failure by your Agent, SaskEnergy will generally supply you with gas, subject to SaskEnergy's standard Terms and Conditions of Service Schedule requirements, including a Short Notice Return Charge that may be charged by SaskEnergy, if applicable.
5. It is your responsibility to check with your Agent as to the length of your contract and under what circumstances the contract can be terminated. To avoid additional charges, you may only be able to start buying natural gas directly or return to utility-arranged supply at certain times of the year or by providing the required notice. It is your responsibility to check with your Agent as to when these dates are, if there are any costs involved in leaving or returning to utility-arranged supply and who would pay these costs.

For Residential Service:

If you sign a Commodity Sale Arrangement for your home, SaskEnergy will issue you a letter notifying you that we have been advised by a Gas Retailer that you have elected to no longer purchase your gas from SaskEnergy. You have 10 business days from the date on SaskEnergy's notification letter to cancel your contract with the Gas Retailer without reason. Companies involved in the direct marketing of natural gas to residential Customers must have proper identification and also be licensed under The Direct Sellers Act with the Consumer Protection Division, Financial and Consumer Affairs Authority. It is your responsibility to check to determine whether your Agent has direct sales identification. Licensing under The Direct Sellers Act may not be required with respect to commercial Customers, and the protection offered to residential Customers under The Direct Sellers Act may not be extended to commercial Customers. Agents must also abide with an accepted Code of Conduct.

If you need more information on the cancellation provision or if you feel you have been treated unfairly, you may wish to contact the Consumer Protection Division, Financial and Consumer Affairs Authority at 1-877-880-5550.

Customer authorizes SaskEnergy and Agent to share such personal and other information of the Customer (including email and electronic exchange) as may be required under the Gas Retailer Master Services Agreement between SaskEnergy and Agent, including but not limited to, Customer name, service address, other address and contact information, and information regarding annual quantity of gas historically consumed by Customer prior to execution of an agreement with the Agent.

I acknowledge having read the SaskEnergy Enrollment Agreement and understand its contents and have retained a copy of this document dated this _____ day of _____, 20____.
